THE fact that the Volunteer Force in Shanghai has been subsidized by the Muni sinal Council and in a measure put under the control of that body, forms a significant readmitted; and from that time had believed illustration of the progress which the principle of local self-government has made in the Model Settlement. When the old Committee of roads and jetties was superand severe were the lampoons hurled at the Council and all that it attempted. No doubt some graye errors were at first committed by it. It mistook the extent of its powers, and the Chinese, to which it was not entitled, It was also guilty of nunecessary extrava- driven off one of the cowe; thirty three in somewhat severe censure. But by degrees land regulations were; after some trouble; encroaching upon spheres not properly within its jurisdiction.

It is somewhat significant that with the many difficulties existing in Shanghai, with numerous nationalities all to be consulted. and all to be induced to scree to a code of local regulations, the Settlement has been able to regulations, the Settlement has been able to Kowloon, and were on their way to Pokfolum, accomplish the task of securing an efficient to look for work. On their way they have now local Government, while Hongkong still continues under the miserably defective alrangements in which the publichae no practical voice. The necessity of establishing something in the form of a Town Council has been nrged for years in the Mocal press of the Colony; Ant, while Hongkong has been talking Shanghai has been acting; and the results in the two places respectively admirably exemplify the proverbial superlority of the one course to the other. > POLICE INTELLIGENCE. BEFORE JAMES RUSSELL, ESQ.

LIKE A PATHER AND A BRUTE. Chiu Aking, a prisoner in the Victoria Ga for gambling, charged Edward Ned, a native of the West Indies, and one of the sable guards of the chain-gang, with him abuse of authority Complainant stated that on the 10th instiwas working in the chain gang on Bonham Strand, under the control of the defendant, when defendant struck him on the loin with this laut so beavy a blow as to leave am 'rt; on collaplainant's lifting his hand to guard his person, this was also marked with another blow, defendant further kicked him, and kicked him yet again In reply to a question by defendant, witness said that the reason why defendant had kicked him was that be was not able to along so fast as the othera. This statement was corroborated by the cyldence of Peter Murphy, a tuenkey of the Victoria Gabl. Defendant's reply was that he had a great deal of trouble with the prisoner, who would not move, yet be had conxed him and worked with him an a father anally, be bad lost his temper and given him a kiek which had the effect desired, for complainant then got up and whieled away his barrow. PUNTIAND MANDARIN PRONUNCIATION. An Arolo-Chibbse Dictionant, by the Rev. W. LOBSCHEID, published at the Daily Press Office, Hongkong.

LIOB scope and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of lute years been compelical to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extense. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for atudents of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given, the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The type- J. F. H. TRAUTMANN, Esq., of Mesers Trant graphy displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body; thereby effecting a vast economy of space, achieving a clearness not prevently attained, and dispensing with those vast Largins and vacant spaces which have heretofore characterized Chinese publications. The scope of the work is so great, and its utilitarian purposes so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in In Hongkong ... Messrs. WM. Pustau & Co. China, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully, with which very few in-deed of them are perfectly acquainted. To parties resident in England and interested in China it cannot but be invaluable occasionally.

What to Beargy ?

In out first article it was shown that energy; or the power of doing work, is of two kinds, quantity of maid of matter as unchangeable, so state two bodies, the atoms of which are prepare that smid the many bewildering transformations to rush together and combine with one another of form and quality which take place in the | werkave at the same time obtained a kind of balance with a certainly that it will not play small scale to the energy of a stone resting mon us false. But now the physical philosopher the top of a house, or on the edge of a cliff on steps in and tells us that energy is quite as the large or cosmical scale. unchangeable as mass, and that the conservation of both is equally complete. There is, however, this difference between the two things the Tame particle of uniter will always retain the Houses, Lands, Tenements, &c. same mass, but it will not always retain the saine energy. As a whole, energy is invariable, but it is always shifting about from particle toparticle, and it is hence more difficult to gram the concention of an invariability of energy that

And now to return to our question,-What ban become of the energy of the stone? Has this disipocared? Far from it; the energy with which the stone began its flight has no more disuppeared from the universe of energy, than the coal, when we have borned it in our fire, disappears from the universe of matter. But this bas taken place :- the energy has changed its form and become spent or has disappeared as energy of actual motion, in gaining for the stone a position of advantage with regard to the force of an invariability of mass. For instance, the mass of our luminary always remains the same.

but its chergy is always getting loss.

If we study this particular instance more minutely, we shall see that during the upward flight of the stancits energy of actual motion becomes gradually changed into energy of position, while the reverse will take place luring its downward flight, if we now suppose it disloged from the top of the house. In this historical trem the top of the house. In this Esq., with Stabling and Garden attached, Gus. button case the energy of position with which its and Water laid all over the House and Offices. downward flight is gradually reconverted into energy of netanl motion, until at last, when | Caine Road, containing 4 Rooms each, with the stone reaches the ground, it has the same Bath Rooms, Outhouses, &c. Apply to mulount of velocity, and therefore, of actual chergy, which it had at first. Let us nowrevert, for a moment, to the defini-tion of energy, which means the power of doing work, and we shall see at once how we may gauge anmerically the quantity of energy which the stone possesses, and in order to simplify unatters, let us anppose that this stone weighs exactly one pound. If, therefore, it has velocity enough to dairry it up one fact, it may be said id have energy enough to do one unit of work, intenned as we have defined one pound raised one foot high to be one unit of work; and in like manner if it has velocity sufficient to carry it 16 feet high it may be said to have an energy equivalent to 16 units of work or foot-pounds city. Apply to are those units are sometimes called. Now, if ther stone he discharged upwards with an initial volucity of 32 feet per second, it will rise 16 feet high, and it has therefore an energy represented. by 16. But if its initial velocity be 64 feet per second if will rise 64 feet high before it turns, and will therefore have, energy represented by ht Hence we see that by doubling the velocity the energy is quadrupled, and we might show that by tripling the velocity the energy is increased nine times. This is expressed in general terms by saying that the suergy orquantity of work a moving body can accomplish varies as the square of its velocity. This fact is well known to artifleryment, for a ball with a double velocity will penetrate much more than wice as fur into, an obstacle-opposing its Let us now take the stone of pound weight luving an initial velocity of 64 feet per second, and consider the stiff of things at the precise mimoent when it is 48 feet high. It will at that | 13 very conveniently situated on Marine Lo moment have an actual velocity of 32 feet per | No. 63, between Mesers. John Bunn & Co. second, which, as we have seen, will represent | premises and Mesars. GIBB. LIVINGSTON. ling its of work. But it started from the ground | On.'s Wharf. with 64 units of work in it; what therefore his broome of the difference-or 48 units? Evidently it has disappeared as actual energy; but the stone, being 48 feet high, basan energy of position represented by 48 units; so that at this pricise coment of its flight its actual chergy (16), plus its energy of position (46), are longether equal to the whole energy with which it started (64). Here, then, we have no annihilation of energy but merely the transformation of it from actiful cuergy into that implied by position; nor have. we any creation of opergy when the stone is on its downward flight, but merely the re-transformation of the energy of position into the original form of actual energy. "We shall presently discuss what becomes this actual energy after the stone has struck the ground; but in the meantime, we would repeat our remark how intimate is the analogy between the physical and the social world . I sath cases we have actual emergy and energy of position, the only difference being that in the social world, it is impossible to measure energy with exactness, while in the mochanical world we can gauge it with the utmost precision. Proteus like, this element energy is always changing its form; and beuce arises the extreme difficulty of the subject, for we cannot ensily retain a sufficient grasp of the ever changing element to argue experimentally regarding it All the varieties of physical energy may havever, be imbraced finder the two liends already men tioned, namely, chergy of a tual motion and o monition. We have chosen the force of gravity acting upon a slone shot up into the air, as our example; but there are other forces besides gravity. Thus, a watch newly wound-up is it a condition of visible advantage with respect to the force of the main-spring ; and as it confinues to go it gradually loses this energy of position expecting it into energy of motion. A cross how bent is likewise in a position of advantage with respect to the spring of the biss; and when its bolt is discharged, this energy of position is converted into that of motion. Thus again; a meteor, a railway train, a mountain torrest the wind, all represent energy of accompanies ble motion; while a brad of water may be claused Mong with a stone at the top of a house us representing anergy of position. The list which represents visible energy of motion, and of position might be extended indefinitely; but we must remember that there are also invisible qualecular motions, which do not the less exter because they are invisble. One of the best known of these molecular

Now, when this indiant energy falls upon a substance, part of it is absorbed, and in the process of absorption is converted into ordinary. Office, East Point, real The undulatory motion which bad Hongkong, 6th June, 1870, i proviously traversed the thin ether of space has now become linked with group pulpable mutter, and manifesta itself in a motion which it produced in the particles of this matter. The violence of this mistory or vortex like motion will thus form a measure of the heat which the matter contains. Another species of molecular energy consists

if electricity in motion .- When an electric correct is moving along a wire, we have therein the progress of a power moving like light with enormous velocity, and, like light, silent in its operation. Bilent, wo say, if it areats with no resistance, but orceodingly formidable if it be opposed for the awe-impiring flush is not so much the electricity itself as the visible punishment which it has inflicted on the air for daring to impede its progress. Had there been a sec of stout wires between the thunder-cloud and the earth, the fluid would have passed into the ground without disturbance. The molecular energies which we have now described way be imagined to represent motion I sould sort not perceived by the outward eyo. but present nevertheless to the eye of the understanding, they may therefore be compared to the energy of a body in visible motion, or actual energy as we have termed. But we have also molecular energies which ero more apployous to the energy of position o stone at the top of a cliff. For instance, two bodies near one another may be endowed with a sprain of energy of position due to opposite electrical states, in which case they have a tendency to rush together, just as a stone at the top of a cliff has a tendency to rush to the enith. Il the two bodies he allowed to rush tougether this energy of po-sition will be converted into that of visible motion, just as when the stone is allowed to drop from the cliff its energy of position i converted into that of visible motions

There is finally a species of molecular energy namely, energy due to actual median, and that caused by chemical separation. When we carry due to position. We ended by supposing that a stone to the top of a cliff, we violently a alone shot vertically upwards had been contalt separate two bodies that attract one mother, at the summit of its flight and lodged on the and those two bodies are the earth and the top of a house; and this gave rise to the ques- stone. In like manner when we decompose ton, What has become of the energy of the carbonic acid gior into its constituents we stone? To answer this we must learn to regard | violently esparate two hodies that attract one chertey, not as a quality, but rather us a thing. mother, and these are carbon and oxygen. When therefore, we have abtained in a separate chemical world, we can always consult har energy of molecular position analogous on the BALFOUR STEWART.
